Income maximisation: a response to child poverty

In April 2003 the Local Government Association launched the quids for kids campaign. The campaign aims to tackle child poverty by promoting benefits and tax credit take-up for families with children.

This one day conference will:

- discuss the key issues and barriers associated with income poverty for families with children in London
- explore the contribution that benefits take-up campaigns play in challenging child poverty
- highlight both existing projects and recent initiatives organised in London and nationally as part of the quids for kids campaign
- share ideas for continuing to work in partnership across London to tackle income poverty amongst families with children

The conference will be of interest to anyone working with low income families in London including staff from Sure Start, Voluntary Sector Agencies, Advice Agencies, Children's Information Services, JobcentrePlus, Inland Revenue, Social Services Departments, Health Care Organisations, Primary Care Trusts, Early Years, Education Departments, Childcare Organisations, Welfare Rights Units, Employment and Training Organisations, Trade Unions, Organisations with responsibility for Social Inclusion/Anti-poverty Strategies and those providing Family Support.
